CUSTOMER ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Variable Annuities are designed to be a long-term investment vehicle, to meet retirement and other long-range investment goals. Variable Annuities are not suitable for meeting short-term goals because of market risk, potential taxes and surrender charges which may apply if you withdraw your money early. While most Variable Annuities contain sub-accounts, which are designed to mirror the performance of a particular mutual fund by investing in distinct underlying fund portfolios, Variable Annuities are not, in and of themselves, mutual funds. Variable Annuities differ from mutual funds in that: a) Variable Annuities provide a stream of income for a set period of time or the life of the annuitant or other beneficiary; b) Variable Annuities have a death benefit; c) Variable Annuities provide tax-deferred growth.

The following information is provided for your information regarding Variable Annuities:

1. Earnings withdrawn prior to the age of 59 ½ are subject to a tax penalty of 10% and may be subject to ordinary income tax. Consult your tax advisor prior to withdrawing funds.
2. Investment in this variable annuity is subject to a declining sales charge schedule, if you choose to surrender your annuity before a predetermined number of years. See prospectus for details.
3. The investment in a variable annuity is subject to various charges, such as sales charges, such as mortality and expense fees, administrative charges, and investment management fees. See the prospectus for details.
4. The purchase of a variable annuity in an IRA account or other tax deferred account will not provide additional tax relief.
5. This contract is subject to a free-look period, in accordance with the contract, during which you may cancel your contract.
6. The following will be considered in all exchange transactions; the product exchanged from, the product exchanged to, the date of the purchase of the original product, the remaining CDSC charge, the surrender schedule for the new product, the distinguishing features between the two products, the financial benefit to the customer, whether or not the customer's state requires an exchange disclosure form.

I, the undersigned hereby acknowledge that I have read and understand the foregoing information regarding variable annuities and I have received a copy of the prospectus.
